The weather was perfect for all 20 fliers to get several planes in the air. Wess had plenty of help fixing our food. The best thing about our club is we have several young fliers still learning to fly but also teaching some of us old Geezers a trick or two. We flew gas, glow and electric of all kinds.

More Flying Going On

Grant and John ready for a little formation flying. As long as you can see sky between the planes, all is well. This kind of flying is the most intense and definitely more fun than just flying around aimlessly.

Peeler has a some large planes that fly on the weekend.

Steve Merrill's twin ugly stick. It really hums with both four cycles running.

John Nied also flew and exhibited his beautifully detailed model of a classic Stinson.

Indoor fliers at Charlie Daniel's park every Monday at 1:00. We will begin flying indoors on Tuesdays in November.

Larry White's T-28

Getting ready to do some glider towing with the tow plane. All the glider has to do is keep the wings level and the tug does all the work. The line is then released from the glider nose and the plane returns for another tow. If you have a glider and want towed, we have you covered.

Instrument panel for those of you that want to improve the scale interior look of the cockpit. Just cut it out and paste.
